ACTIVELY SUPPORT INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM

American Civil Liberties Union

ACLU Freedom Network:

In addition to free speech, the ACLU website addresses students' rights, church and state issues, lesbian and gay rights, and much more. An online library provides complete text of many relevant articles. See also a section <http://www.aclu.org/court/clients/whoclient.html> featuring first-person accounts of people, including students, who have taken stands on First Amendment issues. (Note: The national office of the ACLU doesn't deal with individual cases of censorship; those must be reported through state ACLU offices. Contact information for each state organization is available at the website.)
